

Flight Operations Support Service

Flight Operations covers many areas from Simulator Evaluation to Flight Operations Audits.

Reliance Aerospace Solutions offers the Flight Operations Support Service as a practical and cost effective outsourcing solution.

Simulator Evaluation

The purchase of a simulator is a significant expenditure requiring the need for an independent view of the product to ensure that it fits the requirement of the airline.

The simulator evaluation service consists of having Reliance assist you in evaluating the proper simulator adapted to your needs as well as review the cost effectiveness of a simulator.

In addition Reliance is able to provide the expertise necessary to test a simulator prior to acceptance, including the evaluation of the visual systems, thanks to staff that have been performing simulator acceptances for many years.

Flight Operation Audits

A flight operations audit can be performed through line operation flights by observing crew and the practice of CRM.

Other audits of the Operations Engineering or Flight Operations can be performed with pilots or engineers experienced in the subject who have set up such departments within major airlines.

Training Department

Review of the training department and help managers to ensure that the department is using the most efficient and cost effective tools.

Experience

Reliance staff has over 20 years of Flight Operations experience whether in airlines or heading aircraft manufacturer's training department.
